

In the spring, the Youth League Committee has gathered strength to increase the number of job positions and launched activities such as "100 schools, 1000 enterprises, and 10 thousand positions" for college students to assist in homework assignments, and live broadcasts of job recommendations through the "Job Delivery Direct Bus"; In the summer, expanding the path of homework internship has become a top priority, and a series of activities such as "Sailing Plan" and "Building Dreams and Fragrance" summer social practice have been launched simultaneously; In autumn, league cadres enter major universities and customize a three-day city trip for college students who are interested in staying for homework, allowing them to further experience the city and correct homework goals; In winter, organize college students to enter intelligent factories, scientific and technological innovation carriers, and fields, and experience urban development up close.

Zhang Lina introduces college students' homework from a university perspective. She told the true story of a youth league cadre helping students with financial and homework difficulties to complete their homework.

Li Shan is a 2022 graduate of the Business School of Hubei University. When he was a child, he had his left leg amputated due to a car accident. After enrollment, the Secretary of the Youth League Committee of the college, Zhen Guohui, paired them one-on-one and provided them with homework positions during their graduation job search period, guiding resume revision and training interview skills. Eventually, Li Shan smoothly received an offer from a work school in Jiayuan. But before joining the company, Li Shan unexpectedly broke a bone and needed to rest for 3 months.

Students are very worried about the difficult homework opportunities they may have missed out on. After learning about the situation, Zhen Guohui immediately contacted the recruitment unit to try to retain the position until their physical recovery. She also went to the students' homes to comfort and comfort them. In September of the previous year, Li Shan smoothly joined the workforce. "Zhang Lina admitted that in order to effectively assist low-income families and other special students in collective homework, The school Youth League Committee is taking the "low-income families and other key collective graduates' homework assistance plan" as the overall guidance to carry out the "assistance+" Youth League assistance initiative.

This action is divided into three aspects: "assistance+expanding the post", "assistance+strengthening training", and "assistance+practical combat". The entire school's youth league cadres visited enterprises and expanded their positions on site, and 30% of the youth league branches paired with the community to carry out community practice programs for college students. They collaborated with the school's homework department and large-scale job search channels to launch the "Thousand Enterprises and Ten Thousand Positions" online and offline recruitment fair, and held simulated job competition and other activities to enhance students' homework competitiveness and socialization skills in practical training and combat.

Our campus Youth League Committee also sets up graduate assignment files for low-income students, and the Wuxi

Municipal Committee of the Youth League also provides targeted assignments and internship (internship) positions. "Li Bin, a 2023 graduate of Wuxi University, narrated his job story through an online connection. In the early stages of his job search, he suffered multiple setbacks during interviews and felt very depressed. The secretary of the college youth league committee and counselor promptly intervened to assist him and encouraged him to participate in the cooperation project of the Jiangsu University Village Revitalization Plan. "Next month, I will go to Xibei Town, Xishan District, Wuxi City to start a two-year grassroots work

According to statistics, over the past five years, the entire Youth League has assisted 359900 low-income students from general colleges and universities in finding homework through one-on-one support from League cadres, of which 227200 were originally registered as impoverished students.

I participated in the "Sailing Plan" government internship activity in Wuhu City, and as an intern at the local market supervision and management bureau, I experienced the work of low-level government agencies. From visiting households, conducting on-site research, compiling newsletters, and organizing documents, I not only improved my business skills, but also witnessed the transformation of my home. "Wang Jiayang, a 2020 student from Anhui Institute of Mechanical and Electrical Work Technology, advocated to the delegation, looking forward to the government, campus, and The three parties of the enterprise can work together to plan more internship experience activities, assist students in enriching their extracurricular practice days, and plan their work direction in advance.

Zhao Bingqing, a graduate of 2021, participated in the Western Plan and then chose to renew his contract. He is currently serving at the Party Building Office of Tuoyun Ranch, the Third Division of the Xinjiang Production and Construction Corps. Under his leadership, his younger brother Pang Liangchen also went to the border and joined the Party Building Office of the 84th Regiment of the Fifth Division of the Xinjiang Production and Construction Corps. "Zhang Lina said that more and more young people are willing to bend down at the bottom and calm down to do practical things, The development of the grassroots also requires the support of more young people's youth, "which requires league cadres to be more proactive, do a good job in guiding the grassroots work of college students, and transport and retain a group of promising young people for the village
